

RESPONSE TO REVIEWER

Response to Reviewers

Dear Frank

We appreciate the opportunity to submit a revised draft of the manuscript, "Poetry and the Cognitive Psychology of Metrical Constructs" for publication in the Journal of Poetry and Psychology. We appreciate the time and consideration you and the reviewers put into feedback on our manuscript, and we are grateful for the thoughtful comments on and contributions to this article. We incorporated most of the suggestions made by the reviewers; those changes are highlighted in the manuscript. Please see below in blue, for a point-by-point response to the reviewers' comments and concerns. All page numbers refer to the revised manuscript file with tracked changes.

Reviewers' Comments to the Authors:

Reviewer 1

This study has many strengths, such as its diverse sample, and it also had well-informed hypotheses.

Author response: Thank you!

1. Comment from Reviewer 1 that there was an error or neglect in the manuscript.

Author response: Thank you for this comment. The reviewer is correct, and we have [provided details of the change made].

The revised text now reads on [insert the exact location in the revised manuscript that contains the change]:

"[updated text in the manuscript]"

2. Comment from Reviewer 1 on a specific change to the manuscript.

Author response: As the reviewer suggested, we have [provide an explanation of what specific change was made, and where the change can be found in the revised version of the manuscript].

3. Comment from Reviewer 1 on a general change to the manuscript that would need to be altered in multiple locations.

Author response: We agree with the reviewer's suggestion. Therefore, we have modified the manuscript to [explain the general change, for example - change the order of the study variables or change the name of a term or acronym in the paper] throughout.

4. Comment from Reviewer 1 requesting discussion or analysis that is outside the limits of the paper or the data available.

Author response: Thank you for this suggestion. It would be interesting to investigate this aspect. However, in our study, this would not be possible because [give a clear explanation for why the suggestion was not adopted].

5. Comment from Reviewer 1 with a correction to a typographic, spelling, or grammatical error.

Author response: Thank you for your observation. The [describe the correction made] has been amended on [insert where in the revision the change can be found].

6. Comment from Reviewer 2 with a recommendation for improving the manuscript.

Author response: We think this is a great suggestion. We have [explained the change made, including the exact location where the change can be found in the revised manuscript].

Reviewer 2

Overall, I did not think this study contributes anything useful to literature or to science.

Author response: While is greatly appreciate the feedback from the reviewer, we respectfully disagree. We feel this study contributes valuable knowledge to the field, in that [from your study and/or results or findings, describe knowledge gained, insights provided, questions answered, etc.].

1. Comment from Reviewer 2 requesting discussion or analysis that are not possible due to limitations on specific data available

Author response: Thank you for your comments. While we do agree it is an important consideration, it is [beyond the scope / not appropriate for inclusion / cannot be analyses] in this manuscript because [provide a justification for why you cannot include to manuscript].

2. A suggestion from Reviewer 2 to add content (e.g., more background about a topic in the introduction, more extended reflection on one of the findings in the Discussion)

Author response: We added the suggested content to the manuscript on [insert location in the revised manuscript].

3. A comment from Reviewer 2 to modify a specific section of the manuscript

Author response: [Specific section] was modified [explain what was changed].

4. Reviewer 2's comment referring to a limitation of the study we did not address.

Author response: We agree that this is a potential limitation of the study. We have added this as a limitation on [insert the exact location where the change can be found in the revised manuscript]:

"Another potential limitation is [briefly describe the limitation and any steps you took to address in your study or how it could be addressed by future researchers]"
